Report of the Library Trustees,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1893.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE TOWN OF EPPING :

The undersigned, Trustees of the Epping Free Public Library, beg leave to present this, their first annual report, realizing that they have but little of interest to record from the very meagerness of the material. One year ago in response to the generous invitation of the state, you voted to accept the conditions of the legislative action by appropriating the annual sum of twenty-five dollars and electing a board of three trustees. These trustees at a subsequent meeting organized by the election of Caleb F. Edgerly as chairman, and A. C. Buswell as secretary and treasurer, formulated the few needful rules and regulations, appointed a librarian and provided a temporary place for such books as might be placed in their keeping until a more convenient room might be placed at their disposal in the new town building now nearing completion. The secretary of the trustees having offered to the board the needed room without recompense, Mrs. L. H. Buswell was appointed librarian, and the necessary machinery for the opening of the library to the citizens of Epping came into being. After the necessary correspondence between the chairman of the trustees and the secretary of the state commission, the board received during the months of January and February, of 1893, 109 volumes from the state of New Hampshire, with most of the needed supplies for the working of the library. These books they have numbered, classified and catalogued, and the present week we hope to see some of them in the hands of the people. Your appropriation the trustees now hold in their hands, thinking it better to expend the appropriations of '92 and '93 together, thus adding about 50 volumes to the library during 1893, as it was not desirable to buy until the state's contribution had been catalogued. The trustees earnestly hope that the public will, by donations of money, books, and patronage, make of this small beginning, a library that shall be an honor to, and the just pride of every resident of our town.

Respectfully submitted,

CALEB F. EDGERLY,
A. C. BUSWELL,
GEORGE N. SHEPARD,

Trustees of Epping Free Library.

In addition to the foregoing statements required by law and made in tabular form, attention is respectfully invited to the following explanations and suggestions :

The inequality in number and length of terms provided for the different schools, was chiefly caused by the difficulty of securing attendance for any longer time, in some of the schools, during the severe weather of fall and winter. The effort was made, in good faith, to give equal privileges to all, so far as practicable.

There is a necessity for making some repairs of school houses and appurtenances, for which money should be raised and appropriated, by vote, at the annual meeting. The principal things required are a brick vault at the Primary school-house, new desks and seats, new floor, and other repairs, in the East Epping school-house, and shingling the roof and painting the outside of the Prescott Road school-house.

All remarks in this report in relation to the conduct of the schools, are left to be made by the secretary of the School Board.

As shown by copies of the warrant posted at the Town House and at the Epping post office, the annual school-district meeting will be held in the town hall on Saturday, March 18, 1893, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

GEORGE N. SHEPARD, Chairman of School Board.
CALEB F. EDGERLY, Treasurer       “       “

In making this the sixth annual report of the School Board to the district of Epping it seems fitting that the people of the district be taken into the confidence of the board to the extent that they might understand and co-operate with the purpose of the board to increase to the fullest extent the efficiency of the various schools committed to their care.

Early in the present year, 1892-3, the Board, recognizing that without some definite plan or method our High School could not realize the best results, and believing that all attempts at obtaining an education should follow some clearly defined scheme formulated and adopted a three years course of study, of three terms each year, and obtained the endorsement thereof by the board of trustees of Watson Academy, thus making it obligatory on the pupils attending the High School to continue their studies after a fixed plan as far as possible, and making a certificate of graduation mean, for its holder, something more than a mere certification of attendance on a certain number of school sessions. This for the class of '93, thanks to the hearty and efficient co-operation of the principal, Mr. F. B. Flanders, will have been accomplished at the close of the school year in June, for it was found desirable to make the graduations and promotions come at the close of the spring term instead of at its beginning as heretofore.

This much having been done and a fixed standard for admission to the High School established, it became necessary to reorganize the lower grades: which task was after much thought, careful and deliberate study and comparison of different systems, determined on, and a course covering eight years of primary, intermediate and grammar instruction, and so flexible that it could be easily adapted to the mixed schools by an interested teacher, was drawn up and adopted. This course of study will, it is believed, be well adapted to our needs, and if faithfully adhered to by teacher and pupil give our Epping schools high rank among the best of New Hampshire.

A code of rules and regulations for the government of the schools has been adopted and put in force during the past year.

At the beginning of the spring term the different schools were divided among the members of the board making each member in a great measure directly responsible for the success or failure of a limited number of schools, a measure at once of marked benefit and one that might be carried still farther, if it were practicable, by the appointment of a superintendent who could devote a share of his time exclusively to overseeing the different schools during term time.

One thing is becoming more and more evident, and that is that more room will have to be provided for the primary and intermediate schools of Division One, and another grade established or an assistant granted the teacher of one of the present grades in the not far distant future. These grades are the largest and most essential in any school system, demanding the most solicitous care and the very best teachers and all educators agree that from 30 to 35 is the largest number that can be entrusted with profit to a teacher of these grades, while we find here in District One two really excellent teachers trying to do with 100 pupils what they could only do well with at the outside 70 to 75. Again the two schools are so far apart in distance from one another that some things become impossible that would be very desirable to say the least were they situated in the same buildings or nearer together.

The schools have been fortunate in the corps of teachers selected to preside over their sessions, the names of most of them being familiar to you all from old acquaintance.

These teachers have labored faithfully and in the main successfully, heartily seconding the efforts of the Board looking toward an increase in the efficiency of the schools and a larger measure of success for their own efforts.

Through the efforts of the truant officer a stop has been practically put to the employment of children under age in the factories and elsewhere, which was becoming considerable of a growing evil, 25 pupils having entered the schools through the direct efforts of the officer for the first time during the year, and 74 cases of absenteeism investigated most of whom were returned to the schools.

The Board desires to express its thanks to the citizens of the district for the encouragement and aid rendered them during the year just closing and request a continuance of the same forbearance and assistance for the one so soon to begin.

Respectfully submitted.

ALBERT C. BUSWELL,
Secretary of the Board.
